Not all Beta Glucan products are the same. Before you purchase any bottle of Beta Glucan, research the product that you intend to purchase, you maybe in for a surprise. That $20.00 bottle maybe so impure it could be nothing more then bakers yeast containing little or no active Beta Glucan.

The impurities contained in Beta Glucan products, such as fats, proteins or fillers have been shown to reduce the effectiveness of the product, or they may contain such a small amount of pure, active Beta 1, 3 1/6 Glucan it renders them practically worthless. Every capsule in a Beta 500 bottle is derived from the cell walls of Saccharomyces cerevisiae, a baker's yeast.

All Beta 500's contain over 93% pure Beta 1, 3 1/6 glucan carbohydrate content, with low fat and protein content. The contents of each bottle of Beta 500's are independently tested and certified to insure the material meets, or exceeds the requirements of the
